LibreOffice 5.0.2 announced at LibreOffice Conference
Berlin/Aarhus, September 23, 2015 - The Document Foundation has announced LibreOffice 5.0.2 during the opening session of the LibreOffice Conference, to underline the importance of the event for the community. LibreOffice Conference has opened today, and will be closing on Friday, September 25.
LibreOffice 5.0.2 is the second minor release of the LibreOffice 5.0 family, with a large number of fixes over the first minor release announced in August. So far, the LibreOffice 5.0 family is the most popular LibreOffice ever, based on feedback from the marketplace.
LibreOffice 5.0.2 is targeted to technology enthusiasts, early adopters and power users. For more conservative users, and for enterprise deployments, TDF suggests the "still" version: LibreOffice 4.4.5. For enterprise deployments, The Document Foundation recommends the backing of professional support by certified people (a list is available at: http://www.documentfoundation.org/certification/).
People interested in technical details about the release can access the change log here: https://wiki.documentfoundation.org/Releases/5.0.2/RC1 (fixed in RC1) and https://wiki.documentfoundation.org/Releases/5.0.2/RC2 (fixed in RC2).

Regular updates about the LibreOffice Conference 2015 will be published on the @libocon Twitter account and on the blogs of several participants. The conference website is at the following address: http://conference.libreoffice.org/2015/.
Download LibreOffice
LibreOffice 5.0.2 is immediately available for download from the following link: http://www.libreoffice.org/download/. LibreOffice users, free software advocates and community members can support The Document Foundation with a donation at http://donate.libreoffice.org. They can also buy LibreOffice merchandise from the brand new project shop: http://documentfoundation.spreadshirt.net/.
